

ZeroPoint Sirius Silver

Approximately 4 oz. with Sprayer

Product Description

Sirius Silver is distilled water with silver (Ag) in suspension at .0025 ppm. to .025 ppm. The actual silver content is in the form of ultra nano-particles. The remaining silver is introduced in vibrational form by embedding silver frequencies into the solution. Though similar to colloidal silver in effect, ultra nano-particles are too small to be considered in "colloidal" suspension. They are rather, in a "nano-suspension" – a much more stable state. The vibrational silver frequencies do not add actual silver to the solution, only the benefits which amplify the effectiveness of Sirius Silver in the body above that of common silver products without any of the harmful side effects.

Combining ultra small particle size with vibrational silver frequencies, results in a silver solution which is without peer. From the standpoint of penetration into capillaries, cells, pathogens and body tissues, Sirius Silver is much more effective than common silver products on the market.

With less than 100-200 mcg in an entire bottle, Sirius Silver usage is well under the amount referenced by EPA for public water supplies in the US. Users can be as secure with daily use of Sirius Silver as a as they are with EPA approved drinking water. The properties of Sirius Silver completely put to rest any concern with Argyria or other perceived toxicity concerns.

Only in the last few years has nano-technology begun to evolve into a valuable science. Likewise, only in the last few years has the technology existed to infuse vibrational frequencies into a cutting-edge silver infusion. For optimum function of body immunity, everyone needs Sirius Silver.
